Local Citizens Petition Town
To Clean Up Spy Pond Section

Conditions Now Under Study
By State; Refunds To Remedy
Unhealthy Existing Hazards

A large and civic minded group of Arlington residents living in the area of Spy Pond, have petitioned the Town of Arlington through its Department of Public Health, for immediate action in cleaning up the borders and the entire area of the high water mark of Spy Pond. A collection of refuse and debris of all kinds, including dead fish, constitute a decided and ever-growing menace to the health, not only of the residents of the district, but in fact to the welfare of the town as a whole.

This matter has long been agitated by groups of Arlington residents, and Representative Henry A. Keenan has been working for sometime with the Department of Public Health and the State Department of Inland Waterways, in charge of Great Ponds, relative to improving this unsightly and dangerous condition.

The main point in the issue is the question of availability of State funds which might be used for such purposes. This condition exists in many ponds throughout the state and would run into a considerable amount of money as a whole.

Because of the extremely dry weather and the fact that the water in the pond is the lowest for a period of at least six years and in fact, the lowest in the memory of those residents who have resided for the longest period in the vicinity, this would seem to be the logical time to clean up the unhealthy and unhealthy condition now prevailing.

The Spy Pond beach has now been closed to the public on account of pollution. A considerable growth of weeds and grasses also serves as a decided inconvenience, to small boats plying back and forth on the pond.

THE ARLINGTON PRESS explained the entire situation on the study of these dangerous and unhealthy conditions prevalent in this area, in full in its issue of July 7th, 1949.

"The Courteous Season"

The vacation season will shortly be in full swing for the rest of the summer and early fall. It should also be the courteous season as well.

Countless numbers of tourists are visiting New England this season, some for brief stopovers on their way to the beaches and mountains; Others to browse around Boston and suburbs and visit the many historical shrines connected with our country's early history.

Let us all make an effort to make their stay with us a memorable one. The general public and clerks in our stores can also be helpful.

The police and public service workers always make an extra effort to be of assistance to the sojourner.

They are appealed to by countless strangers about town for directions and information.

We can send visitors away with a wholesome feeling for New England and its people, or just the reverse.

And it wouldn't be a bad idea for those in authority to make it known that some sort of special commendation will be offered at the close of the vacation season to those public service employees who have done most by their courtesy and helpfulness, to promote the best interests of our town and its people.

Playgrounds Briefs

The playground season opened here in town with a post fourth of July bang last Tuesday. The arts and crafts program for the season was off to a flying start with the opening of the playgrounds. Many new ideas have been added to supplement those which have proved fascinating to the younger children as well as the older. Each afternoon instructors will be available to conduct various classes: leather work, soap and potato carving, sewing and many others. It is the intention of the supervisors to have a central meeting place to which children may come to take part in larger projects: block printing, reed and raffia weaving, beadwork, etc. As a whole, there has been very large attendance at all the areas this week.

At Cutter school Jack Flynn is checker champ and Dick Robee is the pingpong champ.

Richard Buzzel was the checker champ for this week at Brackett school in the 5-6 age group and Jacqueline Booth was the checker champ for the younger girls.

The children at Ethel Wellington are now playing various games to find the champions so that the playoffs may be held on Parents' Night, July 21. The baseball diamond is the most popular place in the morning at Florence Avenue, with the pingpong table running a close second. But in the afternoon, the attention of practically every child shifts to arts and crafts work. Gimp bracelets and leather work are most in demand.

Arlington's Oldest Resident Honored In Boston Traveler

HE'S 97 YEARS YOUNG AND FULL OF VITALITY

Arlington's oldest resident, Edmund Whitman, who at the ripe young age of 97, pursues an active and worthwhile existence, refusing to slow down, made the headlines of the Boston Evening Traveler recently, in an interesting feature story beneath the by line of Virginia Bohlin, Traveler feature writer who honors him in the following article:

(Reprinted by Courtesy of the Boston Traveler)

Arlington's oldest resident, Edmund M. Whitman, who at 97 grows his own vegetables and flowers, makes furniture for the neighbors beats his friends at bridge and has spent only one hour in a hospital, attributes his long life to plenty of activity, good diet and good sleeping accommodations.

Most men, when they retire, slow down to a trot. But not so with this nonagenarian. He's still galloping.

On his 70th birthday, after retiring as a pattern maker, he set up the first post for his present home. Five months later with the help of one carpenter he had built a tidy eight-room house at 38 Brantwood road, Arlington, overlooking Spy Pond.

Out of the 11,000 feet of wild woods in back of his house he has cultivated terraced vegetable and flower gardens, connected by 275 feet of cement walks, which he put in himself.

Each day he spends at least three hours, burning sun or not, in the garden weeding and caring for his plants.

Spry as a sailor, he carries fresh water down two flights of steps to his bath each day.

And in his other spare hours he turns out in his basement workshop finished pieces of furniture, second to none, for those who have seen his skill.

In the evening he usually is at the bridge table figuring out his plays with as much keenness of mind as any youngster.

"That's one reason how I account for my long life," he said. "I keep going. If I had laid up entirely I probably wouldn't be here now."

And then, too, I attribute part of my good health to a good diet. I eat everything and anything that is cooked good and is good for me and to good sleeping accommodations.

"When I was young, in my twenties, I worked in a cabinet shop and I had them make me a box spring. And I bought a hair mattress. They have given me good rest through the years."

Neither a smoking or a drinker, "the strongest I've ever taken is ginger ale," he chuckled. "I believe in a good deal of moderation in anything. And I don't get excited very much."

Obviously this kind of living he paid off for, in his 97 years, he has spent only one hour in a hospital—and that was to have an X-ray taken on a knee he once injured.

When he can save himself step he does so.

With a few pieces of wood and a coil spring he has rigged up a device with which he can water the whole garden below without going into the garden.

Born in Nova Scotia, he came to this country at 19 and married a 27. His wife died 17 years ago. He lives now with his daughter, Mabel, Bertha Whitman and a housekeeper.

And speaking of living, it looks as though Whitman will be seeing a lot more of it.

"Feel fine—drink lots of milk, quart a day and eat lots of fruit and I'll just keep going," he said. "Anyhow, I think maybe this long life is partly hereditary. My grandmother on my father's side died at 99 and eight months. So I've got way yet to go."

LADY WRESTLERS RETURN TO MEDFORD BOWL MONDAY

VIOLET VIAN

Due to the outstanding crowd-pleasing exhibition staged at the Medford Bowl last Monday, the management of the Revere Beach Parkway circle in Medford is returning the lady wrestlers as the feature attraction of the card for this coming Monday, according to an announcement today by Promoter Fred Bruno.

Nell Stewart, "Miss Ohio" of '46, who won over Cecilia Blevins last Monday, returns this coming week to wrestle Violet Vian of Fresno, California. Miss Stewart, who combines beauty with skill in the squared circle, is certain to repeat her top performance of last Monday, which saw many feminine fans cheering on their champion of the fair sex.

The semi final of the night will see Art Giroux, known as Mr. Europe, meeting Ivan Vakturoff, the "Russian Lion". Both boys were on the card last Monday and rated as crowd pleasers.

Jackie Nichols from Richmond, Maine, has been matched with Harry Agnus of Detroit, Michigan, for the special bout of the night. Both boys have top reputations in New England wrestling circles.

The first bout starts at 8:30. Fans may reserve seats all day Monday by phoning MY 6-8796.

were both rated excellent as was the House of Correction at Billerica. The State Inspection Report paid high tribute to the efficiency with which all three institutions were being operated and declared that no recommendations for any changes were necessary.

General Boutwell especially commended Deputy Sheriff Edward J. Donovan, Master of the Cambridge House of Correction, Deputy Sheriff David Robinson, Deputy Master at Cambridge and Deputy Sheriff Waldo S. Ford, Deputy Master of the Billerica institution.

General Boutwell, addressing the meeting, said: "It is only 18 months since we have been working together but I feel that we have, from the very beginning, been a good team. You have accepted loyally and cheerfully the many changes which I have deemed necessary in our administration—despite the long service which many of you had given under other systems of management. These splendid endorsements which we have today from the State Commissioner of Correction are conclusive proof that we are on the right road.

"But—we must go on. We must make these institutions the model for all similar ones in the country. We must continue to develop methods of rehabilitation which will return useful citizens to society—rather than the temporary furloughing of hardened criminals to resume their oreying habits. Congratulations to you! Keep up the good work! I, and I speak for the citizens of Middlesex County, am proud of you."

Following the general session, General Boutwell made his customary weekly inspection of all parts of the Cambridge institutions since he had completed his Billerica inspections on the preceding day. Later in the afternoon General Boutwell met a delegation of mid-western penal officials who were visiting Boston.

General Boutwell explained the Middlesex County organization to the visitors who were surprised to find that Middlesex County is very nearly as large as Chicago's famous Cook County. Middlesex County population is now rated in excess of one million—with only a handful of U. S. Counties containing such a figure. The Jail and House of Correction population of Middlesex totalled approximately 350, however as compared with infinitely greater totals for Cook County, in Chicago. General Boutwell declined to embarrass his visitors by speculating as to possible reasons for the comparative figures.

More than half of the Middlesex inmates are confined at the Billerica institution where a large scale general farming operation is carried on. General Boutwell pointed out that the County Farm produced a large portion of the food served in both institutions. The Farm includes a large dairy, a piggery (where much of the fodder consists of garbage from County institutions) plus 160 acres of farmland, most of which is under cultivation. A new program launched by General Boutwell is aimed at clearing further scrub woodlands in order to increase the tillable area. The Sheriff has also directed enlargement of the Farm's Canning Department in order that a larger proportion of the Farm's produce may be stored for winter consumption.

General Boutwell says: "It is certainly better to have these men engaged in productive work which saves the taxpayers' money than to be sitting idly in cells. Not only that, but I am a firm believer in the rehabilitation effect of hard work such as we do on the farm. It is healthful. It is character building. If more of these men had had the experience earlier they probably wouldn't have gotten in trouble."

General Boutwell should be able to handle men. His air force combat service in both wars, plus his long service as commander of troops both in war and in peacetime, have given him a shrewd insight into human nature. In addition to his present duties as Sheriff of Middlesex County, General Boutwell is Commanding General of the 67th Fighter Wing, Air National Guard, with Air Groups and Squadrons in all New England States. General Boutwell was wounded by Japanese flak during a Seventh Bomber Command mission against Marcus in 1945. His present command was recently cited before the House Appropriations Committee of Congress as being the "best in the country."

Arlington Saves $122,583.03 Under Proposed MTA Program

The Committee of Metropolitan Affairs recommended to the House of Representatives a refinancing program of the present MTA system. The new refinancing program will make a saving on the overall picture of close to $6,000,000.

Arlington's saving under this program will be $122,583.03, which will represent the net annual saving each year. This is a saving due to the refinancing of the MTA's operating deficit and the fourteen cities and towns in the Metropolitan set up should not be satisfied with only this proposed saving. As it is not a cure-all for future operating deficits or the stopping of a possible fare increase to make up the total operating deficit.

The whole subject which started back in 1918 wherein the first step was made toward public control and in the recent act of 1945 and 1947 wherein the MTA was taken over by the State; and the legislature voted to pay $85 a share for the stock. They saddled the whole MTA system on the fourteen cities and towns which is now water over the dam. The problems of future deficit will be caused by the replacement of rolling stock and equipment. The increased cost of operations and the expansion program that will be necessary to put the system in a better operating condition will still have to be borne by the fourteen cities and towns.

The Committee on Metropolitan Affairs will make a further research study of the problem after the present legislative prorogues. Their additional recommendation will be made to the next session. There could be additional savings made if the state as a whole would assume the burden of the MTA system, which is completely owned and operated by the state. But one has to be practical and realize that the votes have to be obtained from other sections of the state to have them assume responsibility of the system and for the expansion costs and at the present time, it is impossible to get the votes from the other sections of the State other than the fourteen cities and towns involved.

This recommendation to the legislature relative to the transfer of the title of the subways and of the Boston Transit Commission to the MTA depends upon the vote of the Boston City Council.

The question of fare increase is a matter that will have to be passed upon by the trustees and their recommendations made to the department of Public Utility who will decide after a full hearing as to what fare increases, if any, will be necessary to meet the operating deficit.

EIGHT AND FORTY MONTHLY MEETING

Petite Chapeau Bertha Connor of Arlington presided at the regular monthly meeting of Middlesex Salon, 161, Eight and Forty, held recently in Cambridge Legion quarters.

The usual party for June was given to the children at Reading Sanitarium candy and ice cream being sent to them, although no partners were able to be present.

Eighty three partners were reported at the present time. La Cassiere Doris Sideleau has been seriously ill in the hospital but is now convalescing. Several other partners who have been ill, were also reported to be improving.

A very impressive memorial service was held in memory of Partner Marie Z. Mitchell.

Partner Florence Cosgrove was hostess for the June meeting.

A wedding reception at the Hotel Sheraton followed the ceremony.

The five bridesmaids were gown ed in white net over rainbow color skirts. The bride was radiant in white Skinner satin, with imported chantilly lace trim, and matching lace cap holding her full length veil.

The couple are at present honeymooning in New Hampshire. They plan to make their home in New Jersey.

"SCHOOL IS OUT--SO ARE OUR CHILDREN"

"Last year, in the months of July, August and September, 25 children were killed and 2268 additional child casualties were reported struck down and injured in highway accidents in Massachusetts, many of those injuries resulting in permanent disability to the victims," stated Rudolph F. King, Registrar of Motor Vehicles, as he issued warnings today concerning child safety during the vacation period.

"From now until schools re-open in the Fall, the dangers from highway hazard are potentially increased because many youngsters forget the safety training received during the school term and as a result become involved in mishaps which prove serious, if not fatal.

LOCAL RESIDENT A "DINNER WINNER"

Mrs. Florence Common, 41 Mass. Avenue, Arlington, was a winner on a recent broadcast of the WCOP "Dinner Winner" program, heard Monday through Friday at 6:45 p.m. Emcee Nelson Bragg calls various people in suburban Boston during the show and those who are called must respond with the name of something they are having for dinner, rather than saying hello. Mrs. Common was given a dinner for two at the Currier and Ives room of the Hotel Somerset, for July 2nd and two tickets to the Braves game on the same evening.

Who said so and why are they the most wonderful tires ever built?

For more than two years these great tires have dominated the automotive scene, written themselves into the design of the newer motor cars, fixed themselves in the enthusiasm of countless thousands of motorists.

What is all this? What's going on? Why should a couple of new tires create such a startling revolution? Why were they followed by a host of attempted imitations — why were they never successfully equalled or duplicated?

Yet here they are — just a couple of nice looking tires. What's inside of them? What do they do that other tires won't do? Why should you prefer them, insist on them, buy them? Why do millions insist on them and buy them?

The answers are very simple

The answer starts with the simple fact that they are the exclusive and original U. S. Royal "Air Ride" tires. They take more air than ever before because there's more air room inside them — yet they ride you and cushion you on less air pressure. That's point number one.

Point number two is that they steer magnificently, easier than former tires, because their treads were especially designed for steering. Their treads are for sure and easy steering as well as safety.

Point number three is that by combining lower air pressure and faultless steering you get a tire that provides complete vehicle control around the turns, in parking maneuvers, on the straight-a-way at any speed — yet they are tires that also ABSORB THE ROAD. They cushion you and your vehicle from every shock and discomfort. They are tires that pave their own highways as they go along.

The difference between them

What's the difference between these two U. S. Royal tires? The difference is quantity. You get a bigger tire in the Royal Master, one with much deeper tread rubber; one whose traction and stopping tread may be renewed by regrooving time and time again. And the U. S. Royal Master costs more because it's a bigger tire with a proportionately greater capacity and span of life. Both tires are the finest net value in the world.

They are not luxury tires. They are not cut-price tires. They are pure value — the greatest value in tire history.

The tires that revolutionized automotive riding and driving

1. The tires that perform with more air and less air pressure
2. The tires that absorb the road they travel on
3. The tires that fully cushion every shock and road strain
4. The tires that radically influenced modern automotive engineering and design
5. The tires that have been copied and imitated but neither equalled or duplicated

6. The only tires of low air pressure with especially designed steering tread
7. The tires without any excess (lazy) rubber — run cooler and, therefore, wear much longer
8. The tires exactly designed to fit your present wheels
9. The tires chosen as original equipment on the finest of the new cars
10. The tires that make old cars feel like new

11. The tires that pay for themselves in pleasure, protection and long wear

These are the tires whose revolutionary qualities and sensational performance established today's highest standards of riding and driving comfort, safety and economy. Sold by U. S. Royal Dealers everywhere at fair and stable prices representing the highest tire value in the world. You may act with complete confidence on these facts today or any day.
